

ThreatViewer®

ThreatViewer features EdgeFrontier® products and Augusta Systems integration services for customized safety and security solutions.

ThreatViewer is the ideal choice for enterprises that need an easily configurable and scalable safety and security convergence platform and accompanying integration services. With the ThreatViewer integrated solution, enterprises can benefit from a powerful platform that enables intelligent convergence of remote safety and security devices, systems, and networks.

Powered by EdgeFrontier products, ThreatViewer solutions can feature any or all of the following, depending upon client needs:

- EdgeFrontier Appliance integrated with remote safety and security devices, systems, and networks for distributed network access and computing capabilities
- EdgeFrontier installed on a server for centralized data storage, processing, and communication
- A customizable global display system, leveraging partner products, consisting of a map-based software application for viewing data from remote devices, systems, and networks
- Configuration of system notifications and alerts and event and policy-based actions
- Integration services and training from Augusta Systems
